Investment Thesis

Canada is in the midst of a credit bubble, with one of the most overvalued housing markets in the world and an economy that is over-reliant on debt and housing.

Investment Objective

To provide Canadians with an avenue to hedge their exposure to the Canadian credit bubble, including housing and other sectors that will be affected by a weakening Canadian economy.

Investment Strategy

To find investments that will benefit from a decline in the Canadian economy. We aim to find investments that earn an asymmetric payoff, suffering small losses when we are mistaken and large gains when we are correct.
